I strongly object to plans for building in these areas. The reason for building given is to create more affordable homes yet the council refuses to use the multiple brown sites available. The homes built are not ones which will be affordable to first time buyers. There is no reason to build here apart from feathering the pockets of the big building companies and their associates.

if the council have the best interests of their constituents at heart then they should listen to our objections and do what is right- don't build.

Building on green sites will affect the quality of life and character of Rawdon. It will make it into a massive building estate .

Additionally the poor planning means that an already congested road(A64) will be made worse by more cars and traffic from the houses build. The A63 is one of the worst roads for congestion at the moment anyway.

Rawdon is a very special area and the green belt is an important part of its character. Everybody here objects but none of the council seem to listen. It does not seem a very democratic process- ignore what you don't want to listen to. Why should people who don't live in the area be able to come in and desecrate it? is that democratic? would you like it if I came and build around where you live?

A lot of people who live in Rawdon actively use the green spaces for relaxation and respite. if this is taken away then people like myself may end up with illnesses which in turn would be costly for the council because we will need health and social care.

Please please please dont build. Build on the other brown field sites first
