I am writing about my serious concerns about the proposed housing developments on both green belt land and brownfield sites in Horsforth.

This would have a big impact on the roads, schools, services and local community.

I know we need more housing, the right affordable housing.

But is this the right place it will create additional traffic and even more congestion on the over-loaded A65 and ring road.

The lack of infrastructure and the difficulty in changing that quickly is a big problem. I have seen no evidence there is going to be improvements in the roads, school places, doctors etc.

The 30 bus provided for the newest housing site goes along it's route every day according to its time table (another vehicle on the road) and as yet I have never seen one passenger on it. How does this help the roads or pollution?

It takes ages to get a doctors appointment , there are no more places at my school and the roads a really busy.

These problems need to be addressed before any further planning granted.

Yours faithfully,

Jordan Parsell
