Sirs

As a resident of Northumberland but a frequent visitor to Rawdon, I learned with disbelief of the plans to build on the fields behind the houses on Southlands Avenue. This is one of the few green areas so close to Leeds and should be kept so, in order to preserve a haven for wildlife and stop the ever increasing pressure on the infrastructure of the area.

The roads, whenever we visit, are choked with traffic and several hundred more cars each day will no doubt lead to gridlock, particularly at peak hours.

The disgraceful and relentless pursuit of more money by council tax collection has removed the last semblance of common sense from the people elected to serve (note SERVE) the local communities in this country. You would do well to remember how you get your positions and that the voters of this lovely area of Leeds (which you have the choice to preserve) hold your futures in their hands.

Decline a the planning application and , for once, show some moral fibre and respect for the people who put you there and who pay you!

Regards
