"We call this field 'Smith's Field' because of who uses it. My friend Joe Smith, his parents Sue and Steve use this field for keeping livestock and bonfire nights. The livestock they have are chickens, hens, geese and they used to have pigs. Another person uses the field for beekeeping. Every year near enough, me and my family go over to the field for bonfire night. It's good. It gets a bit warm though. We've spent lots of school holidays playing in this field. And think about it - where would all the animals go?"

From Finn McKeown (aged 16)

"PS. Because I have Aspergers (sic) this field was a safe haven for me. And it was near somewhere I know and love (the Smiths house)".
