I wish to comment regarding the above reference. :-

I understand that the above has been removed from the list of sites considered for development. In my view it should not be considered again.

This land is green belt and should be protected from development. It is my understanding that Government policy is that such land only be considered as a last resort after all possible brown field sites have been exhausted. I understand that this is not the case in Leeds.

It is high quality agricultural land and should be retained for this purpose.

It is fringing the Bramhope conservation area where limitations should be applied to prevent further development.

Please consider these factors should there be any further considerations regarding this site
