Dear Leeds planners

I wish to object to the amount of plans proposed for building such a large amount of housing

The council have chosen mainly green belt sites

There are many brown site that could be used in more suitable areas

How many schools, medical centres are the council proposing too provide to service

These

new communities,they haven't been forth coming in these services that will be needed

There are many other areas across Leeds that would benefit from new more less expensive properties that people who are not on large incomes could afford although financial rewards in terms of council taxes etc wouldn't be as great

As a labour council I would have thought they have a duty to there constituents to build houses where people live that need homes which is not the case in Horsforth,Rawdon

These proposed housing developments could have an adverse effect on land drainage and flooding problems

Yours sincerely
S Dixon
