I have looked at the site allocation plan in north leeds. I am horrified at the amount of greenfield sites allocated to be built on. I am very disturbed by the designation of fields off alwoodley lane as this is yet another incursion into what should be green belt. It is stated that north east leeds is densely populated and yet massive developments are proposed. I live in Headingley which has totally inadequate green space and to propose destruction of green sites nearby is completely unacceptable. There should be no planning applications passed on greenfield sites at all until brownfield sites are used and all the homes currently lying empty are brought back into use. The impact on traffic and amenities if these massive developments go ahead is incalculable and not acceptable.
