With regard to the proposed new building of approximately 1,647 new homes in the areas of Horsforth, Rawdon and Yeadon, of which 1,370 homes will be in Green Belt areas, shown as Strategic Green infrastructure as identified within Leeds Core Strategy, surely this is extremely unfair?

Are these proposals justified, and will these plans be consistent with National policy? I fear they are not. Neither are they consistent with Leeds City Councils' own established policy.

I live in Rawdon and I feel that these proposals will tend to merge Rawdon into Horsforth, thus Rawdon will no longer be an individual village.

Green Belt and Greenfield sites should be maintained for the benefit of all.

Finally has due consideration been given to the infrastructure of these areas? What about schools, shops, NHS facilities, and roads, the influx of cars will be tremendous, TAKE A GOOD LOOK AT THE A65 traffic now.

Yours faithfully,

Mrs. A Brayshaw.
