Re: Response Form Your City. Your Plan.

PDH00534.

Dear Sir,

I have recently attempted to complete this form to object to two planning proposals in the area where I live. It has been overlooked that this is a form for the "general public" to complete not generally familiar with planning or legal jargon. At a meeting I attended, grown adults were being "helped" to fill in this form.

The form consists of four sides of A4 paper but has only three small slots  $1\frac{1}{2}$ " in depth where it is suggested you use sub-headings!! There is hardly enough room for two sentences!!

I feel that this "Response" form is designed to kill off a good deal of response from the citizens of Leeds by its complex format and lack of clarity.

Yours Sincerely,

Mrs. M. V. Keir
