

RESPONSE

I would also ask why the large number of 'brownfield' locations in Leeds seem to be disregarded?

New in-city developments, with in-built green spaces, could meet your objectives AND create a healthier & more prosperous city.

Therefore, I urge the Council to remove the Haighside site from the SAP and instead include the proposed Hope Farm site.

With kind regards,

Surely there is a better way to think strategically about our home city; rather than simply growing forever outwards?

Has the Council considered setting up a working party for the design of Leeds (as a sustainable city) to groups and/or organisations who are serious about change?
