Re houses on Ings Lane.

How many more houses can Geisley accommodate? Will the affordable houses be cheaper than the houses that are always for sale around Geisley? We have the large site on High Ryds, Silver Cross, all along Netterfield Road, the site at the Mills, also on Queensway and Cairn at White Cross. If 298 houses are built up Ings Lane that will mean at least 400 more cars on the already congested lane and A65. The main road and side roads are already used as car parks for commuters or football spectators. What about

Schools, doctors and dentists who are all under pressure now? Will the shops be enough to cater for this influx of people. There is the Post office in Queensley Centre, the ^{NEXT} one is the far end of Monston. This is a vital service for people and won't be easily accessible for elderly and non drivers from this site.
